

Deep Concern Expressed for Teaching Pay

NEW YORK, July 1.—The president of the National Association of Manufacturers said today that industry leaders are "over the moon" over the pay of the ranks being spent on education.

H. C. McMillan, said, industry is particularly disturbed over the fact that "in general, our country is in "a state of decay" and "the high caliber of the man and woman needed in the schools and the importance of the service they perform."

More Needed

"There is no time to be found," McMillan said, "to increase greatly the money spent on education, but we must do so if we want to fulfill its destiny as a great leader. We cannot afford the waste of our human resources which would result from parsimony in providing financial support for our schools."

McMillan addressed the United Business Education Association, a department of the National Education Association, at a luncheon in New York yesterday.

The NAE president said that in order to preserve the traditional freedom of education, the administration of political or economic power is essential that the support of education remains a responsibility of states, localities, individuals and groups.

Avoid Federal Aid

"Desperately as is the need for larger funds for education, we must avoid at all costs the temptation of the federal government to pick up the tab. That would most certainly lead to uniformity and conformism even if the federal government refrained from dictating what schools should be run and what children should be taught."

McMillan said that the NAE, more than 20 years ago, became interested in the problems of the schools. The association has for years urged its members and businessmen generally to give stronger support to education, he said.

No Hidden Motive

"Industry has been unjustly accused of having a hidden motive in its desire to give more financial support to education," he said. "Actually, the fact is that industry's interest in education is the same as all other interests—namely, better schools and better-paid teachers because we know that our own and the nation's progress depend on education."

McMillan said anyone who questions industry's interest in education would benefit by reading "This We Believe About Education," a booklet recently released by the NAE, which are summarized the findings of a two-year study by a group of educators and industrialists.

Senator Raps Jordan Plans On U. S. Post

WASHINGTON, July 1 — Senator George W. Norris, one of the most unfortunate and unusual at the chairman of the United States Senate Select Committee on Small Business, said he would not run again next year.

President Eisenhower last week told Gov. Len Jordan, Idaho, to end his term as governor by election over use of United States-Canadian boundary waters.

Postponed Change

The White House said that the White House "had said" that the administration would serve on the committee while completing the term.

Later

However, James C. Hagerty, newspaper secretary, said

Jordan's position on the committee until his term as governor expires.

Lebanon, commenting on the new proposal, said:

"While I am pleased to see that the White House has now reversed its stand, I do not believe it is a permanent federal official.

I am gratified to learn that the limitation will be removed so that we can wait until next January for Governor Jordan's term to expire."

Unusual Situation

This is a most unfortunate and unusual situation.

"I hope that it is not an indication of a general pattern that the White House will hold perpetual positions for all Republican governors who will not resign this year."

Lebanon, who was making his first appearance to the newsmen in New York when Gov. Thomas Dewey may not be a candidate for the state's governor for 2 years, has delayed an announcement of his plans.

Five Hurt in Auto Mishap

HAILEY, July 1 — Five persons are injured at 4:45 a.m. Wednesday when their car was driven by William Chase, San Diego, went out of control and rashed into the back of a truck.

With Mrs. Chase were her husband, John Chase, 32, and their other-in-law, Mrs. Beatrice Chase. The two children and Mrs.

Chase were thrown from the automobile.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Inman and the McCordick ambulance took the injured persons to the Hailey clinic. Mrs. Beatrice Chase received body and chest injuries and cuts and Mr. Chase's face received cuts and bruises.

Deputy Inman estimated damage to the 1950 Chevrolet as total.

Three "Lost" on Magic Reservoir

HAILEY, July 1 — Other than the cold and icy Parky Brook, one lake on the Magic River, Silver Peak, suffered from another trip to Magic reservoir Tuesday much as the day before.

The three men, who were swimming in the reservoir, didn't get the outboard motor on ice boat started. The reservoir is pretty calm and drifting was low. They reached shore when they were, however, where they were not decided to stay there.

MEARNS, their wives had become quite anxious over their condition and asked for help.

Sheriff L. E. Outer, who with

Anthony Berlin and 12 Sun Valley men, began a search.

The three fisherman were found in the water and had deposited numb-shivering in 38-degree temperature.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

So many mothers worry about their children's eating habits that there must be something wrong somewhere. After all, the child is the center of the parents' attention and the result of their care and comfort. Healthy habits to his advantage. Healthy, happy children eat without coaxing. They eat when they are hungry. It is time to take stock of the situation—ask what's wrong; then set about remedying it.

What sort of foods are essential?

Cereals, fruits, vegetables, and eggs and first-class meats are the mainstays of a healthy diet.

But the child who eats only meats and vegetables is not likely to be healthy.

It is important that the child eat some special vegetable, such as carrots, parsnips, etc.

It is also important that it seem necessary to a parent's mind that the child eat with his parent's enjoyment of it.

Nothing excites a child's appetite as seeing someone enjoy eating.

It is good health he is after, not some of that dash, if not today then another day when his people have forgotten his request.

Arguing with a child about his refusal to eat is worse than useless.

Dismiss the matter pleasantly, but firmly. Don't let him know to where he will sit. But make certain you are presenting only the essential foods; not some special dish like baked apples or creamed potatoes, etc., insisting that what the family eats is what every child at the table must eat.

One thing is very important in this matter of children's eating.

The less tension there is in the atmosphere the more the fun about his eating. Tired children are likely to be tense. If they are under com-

ANCER, N.D., July 1.—The anti-Nazis, a small, non-populist movement of 14-day-olds, was the biggest political concern since the depression as votes fluctuated in Tuesday's North Dakota primary.

Reporters appeared to have the possibility of taking over all Dakota elective state offices if the group were successful.

The group had the lead of the 2,383 precincts in the state.

Sen. George W. Knowles' lead was considered to have been assured by the results of the 1960 congressional election.

O. Norman Brundage and Joy C. P. Dahl were in the traditional Republican state.

Both are with the Republican organization committee, an amateur group which has controlled the state for more than a decade.

Assured of renomination was Rep. L. Burdette, who was re-elected for state treasurer and service on the state legislature.

They were opposed by ROC members who were unopposed in the primary and received only one vote.

North Dakota law requires regular registration in Democratic primaries.
